

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18

19

20

21

22

23

24

25

26

27

28

29

30

31

32

33

34

35

36

37

38

39

40

41

42

43

44

45

46

47

48

A diagram of a cross-section of a leaf. The top layer is the upper epidermis, a single layer of cells. Below it is the palisade mesophyll, consisting of two layers of columnar cells. The bottom layer is the spongy mesophyll, consisting of large, irregular cells with air spaces. The bottommost layer is the lower epidermis, a single layer of cells. A large, circular stomatal pore is shown in the lower epidermis, surrounded by two guard cells.

73

74

75

76

77

78

79

80

81

82

83

84

85

86

87

88

89

90

91

92

93

94

95

96

97

98

99

100

101

102

103

104

105

106

107

108

109

110

111

112

113

114

115

116

117

118

119

120

133

134

135

136

137

138

139

140

141

142

143

144

